Single response answers...

- Adventure games
- Anything other than troop-planned
- Boating/fishing
- Camping / badge / nature programs
- cooking items
- Council does a base fee if you only use a unit. adding programming means added costs - which we build into teaching girls leadership - no problem there
- Disk Golf
- I believe we are always charged for these sorts of activities.
- I think they do!! I don't know though
- Most are not offered, but swimming is included at the camps with a pool or lake.
- Movie events, Mall Madness & beach events
- Nature Activities, Rifles, Fishing, Biking, Orienteering, Hayride, Cooking, Anything Else
Besides your beds/cabin/tent site

- No, unless you don't have the training and you need to have someone come and do it for your troop.
- Not sure - certified people required
- Not sure the one closes to us only has swimming and we haven't used it since we have to provide our own lifeguard
- Observatory
- Often there are no facilitators available if a troop is going on a troop weekend (and not scheduled for a themed event)
- Only if the trainer charges a fee
- Only in connection with camp costs
- Only swimming offered with paid lifeguard, cannot even pay for other activities even though they are on property.
- Our council does none of those except maybe canoeing at the Montana camp in the summer water camp.
- Pool is closed
- Rappelling
- Sing-alongs
- Snowshoes are free with off season rental - I think the other activities are only available with summer rental, for a fee. No horses, ropes or zip line.
- There is a Scout package through our local ski resort for a fee and at the August learning events you need to pay for the activities offered.
- These can only be accessed at expensive summer camps ($800/wk) or a volunteer has to be certified to teach and work with a service unit camp.
- They are included in your camp fees
- They even charge volunteer day camp for lifeguards that are already being paid
- They used to charge separate fees, but now they just don't offer programming to troop campers.
- TOO MUCH
- Varies
- Very crafty
- Weird Science
- When we camp as a troop, we would have to pay extra to have these things available. But we often take advantage of Events programming when picking camp weekends, so those are included in overall rental cost.
- Yes but not sure which ones
