- Getting ready to possibly close one or more
- Going through a property reorg now
- Great news! Crowell Hilaka was saved!!! Thanks to the Western Reserve Land Conservancy and the voters of Richfield in Ohio!!!!
- I think we originally had 6. One was rented and not re-leased out. I think another was sold.
- Just November and December
- Just sold off 4 camps since merger
- Might as well be since they are being ignored.
- Not anymore
- One camp has many closed facilities
- One camp is a the verge of closing
- One camp is only available for large scale events in the spring.
- One is closed, one is being sold and one is being idled
- One is no longer a resident camp now it is used for troop & family camping
- One is seasonally rested and not used for resident camp
- One is underutilized as it is in the processed of being revosed.
- One not developed
- One was recently sold
- One was, but now being worked on
- One will be idled in 6 weeks
- Our closest recently reopened but was down for a year.
- Our council sold 2 camps in the 90's. Sadly one was actually in the city on Staten Island.

- Possibly still own one or two more than the 5 currently open
- Recently sold a couple of camps.
- Redlands and Sooner councils each owned 2 camps when merged. They sold Camp Red Rock and Camp Kate Portwood
- Sold already or for sale
- Sold off 5
- Sold two within the last five years
- Some are.
- Some close for hunting season
- Some do not host summer camp but are open to troops.
- Some have more limited programming
- Some units rest at each camp
- Some were for sale
- Soon to be. It's very sad
- There are rumors circulating that Camp Todd may be sold to the YMCA. If that happens it will devastate my troop and my daughter who has been there every summer and works as a program aide there
- They just sold 2 camps
- They recently sold 4
- They sold the one that they idled!
- Two are on the chopping block
- Two leased camps were not renewed
- Up for sale
- Wallace Creek is closed as they are trying to sell it
- Was sold quite a few years ago
- We have 1 that they had not made a decision on. They were going to wait 3 yrs to revisit the fate of the camp. That decision I think is next spring
- We have several, but not sure how maintained they are.
- We may still own 1 or 2 that are rested
- We put 2 camps up for sale. I don't know if they have sold.
- Will be in January
